Additional thoughts/comments:

I have supported and been a co-sponsor of sugar tax before and plan to do so again if re-elected. I support the education question but I as an educator I am cautious about legislating specific teaching topics and requirements as there are often unfunded mandates that get imposed on schools regarding teaching requirements and understand that educators need to set curriculum. We can and should encourage this though and fund it if it works with what educators are able to accomplish already with the meager resources they have.
